BRADLEY FOUNDATION PRESENTS PRESIDENT'S HOME TO WESLEYAN

MAINTENANCE FUNDS PROVIDED TO KEEP UP VALUABLE PROPERTY

Dr. B. Joseph Martin, president of Wesleyan College, and Mr. Leo Huckabee, chairman of the Board of Trustees, announced in March the acquisition and gift of the property of Mr. and Mrs. George Fay, consisting of approximately sixty-six acres and a two-story brick home. This property adjoins Wesleyan's Rivoli property and is situated on the northwest side of the college.

Dr. Martin stated that due to the increase in enrollment for the fall term at Wesleyan it was necessary to have available additional accommodations for students. With Dr. Martin and his family occupying the new president's home, this will enable the college to care for approximately fourteen students in the space formerly occupied by the president's family.

When the need for all available space to house students was realized, Dr. Martin presented this situation to his associates. As a result a group of friends and supporters interested themselves in this matter. The W. C. and Sarah H. Bradley Foundation of Columbus, Georgia, agreed to purchase the Fay property for a president's home, provided other Wesleyan friends would create a reasonable endowment fund, the income to be used for maintenance of this home. These terms were met by a limited number of friends contributing to this fund.

Mr. D. Abbott Turner is secretary and treasurer of the Bradley Foundation and Mr. Will Bradley Turner is president. Mr. Abbott Turner is a trustee of Wesleyan and has long been one of its greatest benefactors. Betty (Turner) Corn and Sara Louise (Turner) Butler are alumnae of Wesleyan and the granddaughter of the late W. C. Bradley, prominent financier and philanthropist.

The Turner family are descendants of Bishop George Foster Pierce, first president of Wesleyan College and a great leader in Methodism.

Mrs. Arthur Moore Alumnae Day Speaker

Honoring Diamond Jubilee Anniversary of Founding of Woman's Society of Christian Service in Georgia

Mrs. Arthur J. Moore, wife of the presiding Bishop for the North Georgia and the South Georgia Conferences of the Methodist Church, and herself a beloved and consecrated leader, will be the Alumnae Day speaker on Saturday, May 29, at 11:00 a.m. in Pierce Chapel at the old Conservatory on the Hill.

Bishop and Mrs. Moore endeared themselves further to all Wesleyannes when on May 29, 1941, he accepted the presidency of Wesleyan College for one year and would take no salary for his work with, in his own words, "one of the essential and indispensable institutions of our commonwealth."

Their only daughter, Evelyn (Moore) Means, '37, attended Wesleyan and was one of the hostesses to Dr. Martin when he visited the alumnae in San Antonio, Texas, in January.

The committee for this anniversary celebration, reports the following plans for Alumnae Day:

"The Commencement programs this year will honor the Diamond Jubilee Anniversary of the founding of the Woman's Society of Christian Service in the North and South Georgia Conferences, their leaders and founders of seventy-five years ago, and all those who followed after to build from small beginnings the powerful organizations of over 50,000 members today.

"Mrs. Moore has untiringly helped these societies, and with her distinguished husband has traveled to the far parts of the earth, seeing the results of the vision of these pioneers of long ago, and the needs of other countries today.

"Three-quarters of a century ago, the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions was authorized, the Woman's Missionary Society of North Georgia and of South Georgia were organized, and the first annual meetings were held.

"Alice (Culler) Cobb, A.B. 1858 from Wesleyan College, and a member of the faculty for 41 years, was the first president of the South Georgia Conference.

"Laura Haygood of Atlanta, A.B. 1862 from Wesleyan College, was the first alumna to go to China as a missionary. There she founded the McTyreire School for Girls in Shanghai.

"Honor guests of Alumnae Day will be Mary Dudley (Fort) Colley, alumna, president of the North Georgia Conference of W.S.C.S., and Mrs. Scott Edwards of Savanneh, president of the South Georgia Conference, their board members, past presidents, and other official representatives."

MRS ARTHUR MOORE

Baccalaureate Sermon

Dr. E. J. Pendergrass, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Orlando, Florida, will give the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 30, at the Mulberry Street Methodist Church, at the 11:30 hour.

Commencement Speaker

Dr. B. Joseph Martin has invited Mrs. J. N. Rodeheaver of Winona Lake, Indiana, vice president of the National Board of W.S.C.S., to give the Commencement address on Monday, May 31, in honor of the Diamond Jubilee of organized women's work for Christian service.

The Commencement program this year will be held, weather permitting, on the lawn of the Rivoli campus in front of the Candler Memorial Library, beginning at 11:00 a.m.

Alumnae Luncheon, May 29

The Alumnae Luncheon will be held in the Anderson dining room on the Rivoli campus at 1:15 p.m., Saturday, May 29. The luncheon is open to all alumnae by reservation, and a blank for your reservation is in this magazine for your convenience.

Please mail in your reservation by May 22—not later—with check for $1.50 to the Alumnae Office, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

The luncheon is an ideal time for alumnae to visit and chat with those friends returning for their class reunions. Many alumnae do not come back except for reunions, and this opportunity is too good to miss. Make your plans NOW to be in Macon May 29 for the Alumnae Day program as well as the luncheon to follow.

Class Reunions

Friday afternoon, May 28, will find all roads leading to Rivoli and all members of the reunion classes (we hope), both graduates and non-graduates, streaming back to Wesleyan to enjoy the fun and fellowship and to be "college girls" again as guests of the College.

The Reunion Classes are the following:

Golden Anniversary	1904
Silver Anniversary	1929
1888	1889	1890	1891
1907	1908	1909	1910
1926	1927	1928	1929
1945	1946	1947	1948

REUNION CLASS PARTIES

The Macon girls from many of these classes are already busy making plans for informal parties following the alumnae luncheon Saturday. The "Silver Anniversary" girls are working on plans now for a good time.

The girls from the four classes—1888, 1889, 1890, and 1891—will be entertained in the apartment of Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, '91. Newell Mason, '08, assures us their group of 1907, 1908, 1909, and 1910 will get together and have a party.

The girls of 1926 and 1927 will be feted at the home of Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, '26. The class of 1945 will gather in the home of Pauline Domingos for their party.

Jacqueline (Lamm) Souder and Jane (Spearman) Struby of '46 are working up plans for their class party; the Macon girls of '47 are entertaining Saturday afternoon at the Sidney Lanier Cottage; and the class of '48 will gather at the Rivoli Drive home of Elizabeth (Conner) Tucker.

When you arrive at Wesleyan and register, all details about these parties will be given you.

REUNIONERS HOW ABOUT "TAKING PEN TO HAND"?

Since notifying graduates and non-graduates of the reunion classes about plans for May 28 and 29, the response has been most gratifying. Cards and letters have come to us from all over Georgia and even as far away as Cincinnati, Ohio; Pittsview, Ala.; Bronx, N. Y.; Pound Ridge, N. Y.; and Pensacola, Fla.

Joy (Lawless) Tripp writes from Bronx, N. Y., as follows: "Of course, I'm interested in coming back to Wesleyan in May! I have seriously studied the reunion schedules in the alumnae magazine for eight years, wondering just when 1946 would appear on it. Just as soon as I moved a thousand miles away, it appeared!"

Martha (Lamar) Morrison of the Silver Anniversary Class of 1929 writes she has misplaced the early memorandum we mailed out about the reunion and just as a precaution, "although May is a long time off," wants to reserve a bed for herself for the particular Friday in question.

Lucy (Stanley) McArthur, 1908, writes that she hopes for a very enjoyable reunion. She says, "I am enjoying writing to so many of my classmates."

The following reunioners are writing notes to classmates:

1889	Kate (Davidson) Roberts
1890	Maggie (Bell) Burdick
1891	Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth
1904	Jewel (Davis) Scarborough
	Fannie (Harris) Wallace
	Dessa (Hays) Asher
1907	Willie (Erminger) Mallary
	Odille (King) Dasher
1908	Alice (Burden) Domingos

Won't you write some of your classmates and urge them to meet you at Wesleyan? Don't you want to see your best friends, your former roommates, the girls that lived down the hall? Then let us know and we will send you a list of your class. If you write a few letters now, you will be, oh, so well repaid during reunion.

See you at Wesleyan May 28 and May 29!

Reunion Dinner

Friday night, at 6:00, the reunioners will be guests of the College for an informal dinner in the Anderson dining room at Rivoli. They will sit together as classes. Who knows, old Wesleyan songs may be resounding against the high ceilinged hall, that is, if the "school girls" can stop talking long enough!

After Dinner Speaker

After dinner, all alumnae are invited to attend the brief business meeting and to hear the after dinner speaker, Maybelle (Jones) Dewey, A.B. 1908. Maybelle, who since the publication of her book Push the Button and her latest trip to Europe with the Emory Glee Club has been much in demand as a speaker, will use as her subject, "To Europe—with one husband and thirty college boys." As only Maybelle can, she will no doubt reminisce of her former college days as well as tell of her travels in Europe with the glee club.

New Home of the President of Wesleyan College

Nominee For Alumnae Trustee

Aline (Bradley) Boykin, 1905

The Alumnae Council of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association presents as the nominee for Alumnae Trustee to succeed Grace (Laramore) Hightower, whose three-year term of office expires this year, Aline (Bradley) Boykin, A.B. 1905.

Eliza (Hill) Martin, A.B. 1906, writes proudly of her Wesleyan friend as follows:

"I cannot think of a more delightful privilege than that of writing the many nice things I know about Aline.

"It has been said that if you really want to know people, know them in their own home town. I lived in Carrollton, Ga., several years and had every opportunity to know Aline in all phases of community life. Very soon I found her to be one of Carrollton's key women, being in the forefront of every worthwhile endeavor. Truly she is one of Carrollton's indispensables.

"Aline Bradley was born in Carrollton and has lived there all of her life. Educated at old Wesleyan, she married, soon after leaving college, Col. Buford M. Boykin, a prominent attorney and industrialist. They have a lovely daughter, Mrs. John Berry of West Virginia, and two grandchildren, Frances Berry and John Berry, Jr.

"Always active in the Methodist Church, Aline has held many important offices in her church, district, and Conference. For many years she taught the Men's Bible class and was greatly beloved and respected by the members. She also served for eight years on the Carrollton Board of Education.

"Ever interested in all that is cultural, Aline not only belonged to but headed many of the civic, literary, and patriotic organizations of her town. She was instrumental in organizing 'Lit-Mu Club', a literary musical club very outstanding in its cultural influence.

"Always loyal to her Alma Mater, Aline has answered every call upon her and served Wesleyan through the Alumnae Association, as past president of the Carrollton Alumnae Club, as class fund agent and faithful contributor to the Loyalty Fund.

"I salute my good friend, Aline (Bradley) Boykin, who, with all the attributes of glorious womanhood, will grace the board of our Alumnae Association with dignity and honor; and I congratulate the Wesleyan Alumnae Association upon its wise choice of her as an alumnae trustee."

Wesleyan College Inaugurates New Creative Program

A new academic program, designed to give practical preparation for woman's greatly expanded role as a homemaker, wife, mother and active citizen in a modern community, has been established at Wesleyan College, President B. Joseph Martin announced in March.

Named the Interdepartmental Program in Creative Homemaking and Family Living, this new schedule of courses includes high-level work in economics, psychology, sociology, government, art, education, and public speaking in addition to such well-established homemaking courses as nutrition, cooking, clothing design and family health problems.

Because so very large a percentage of Wesleyan graduates get married after the completion of their college work, it is expected that there will be a steady demand for this new type of preparation for family living.

Dr. Richard Klemer, head of the department of Sociology and Economics at Wesleyan and a specialist in the field of marriage and the family, planned and will direct the new program.

Students in the new program will study and have practical experience in such fields as child development, community club work, interior design, and consumer economics. These courses will involve actually working with children in the nursery school and home, leading young adults in group work projects, planning home furnishings, and dealing with such realistic economic problems as income tax forms and insurance plans.

Not only will the student's work be interdepartmental, but also she will take some special courses created by several departments of the college joining their facilities and faculty to provide an integrated learning experience. For example, recreational group work will be a combined offering of the physical education, religion, and sociology departments.

Bachelor of Science Degree

Upon successful completion of the four-year course of study, homemaking students will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The new program augments the already well-established curriculum at Wesleyan and does not in any way affect the traditional liberal arts and fine arts academic offerings for which the one hundred eighteen year old college has been noted.

Macon Alumnae Helped Plan

Although information on needs and trends in homemaking education was gathered from all parts of the country prior to the formulation of the program, it was a group of Macon homemakers, according to Dr. Klemer, that provided the most help in program planning. That committee of Macon women, which had Helen (Ross) Dennis as its chairman, included Dot (Redwine) Black, Georgann (Dessau) Blum, Virginia (Anderson) Ivey, Virginia (McClellan) McCowen, and Ruth (Holt) Sheehan.

Employment Possibilities

Even though the primary objective of the new program is to provide preparation for a career in homemaking, the course work has been so arranged that there will be many employment possibilities for the student who wishes to work before being married.

A recently-made survey of these possibilities indicated that there are openings in teaching, religious education, social work and professional group work among other fields, for college graduates with the kind of training that the new program provides.

Cooperation Made it Possible

Commenting on the establishment of the new interdepartmental program, Dr. Klemer praised the previous work of Miss Clara Morris who has been teaching those homemaking subjects which have been a part of Wesleyan's course offering for many years. He also gave credit to the alumnae committee which played so large a part in the formulation of the new program.

"But it was the willingness of so many highly specialized departments to work together toward a common objective," Dr. Klemer concluded, "that made the start of the 'education for contemporary living' possible."

Business and the Colleges*

NEEDED: MORE HELP FROM CORPORATIONS

Reprinted, by permission, from TIME, January 18, 1954

As every schoolboy knows, the important raw materials of industry are coal, oil and iron. But, as every businessman knows, the most important raw material of all is the schoolboy who, as a trained college graduate, will run the U.S. industry of the future. Today, U.S. industry is faced with a tight shrinkage of such manpower; it needs not only more but better trained college graduates.

To help them, many a businessman believes that corporations must 1) provide much of the cash needed by colleges to expand their facilities and improve their teaching, and 2) work more closely with colleges on business' needs. As Robert R. Young pointed out at a White Sulphur Springs conference of businessmen and educators, industry and education have a clear mutuality of interest.

Businessmen and educators have always recognized this. While there are a few businessmen who still regard college professors as fuzzy-minded and likely to be radicals and a few educators who still look on businessmen as mere money-grubbers, the mutual distrust has generally disappeared in the mutual need. The rapidly expanding U.S. economy has made college graduates more important than ever to industry. In turn, universities must depend increasingly on corporations for contributions, since high taxes have all but cut off the flow of the big individual contributions that built the private schools.

Few people know how much industry already contributes. In 1954 business will donate well over $60 million to private U. S. colleges, plus additional funds for research and equipment. DuPont will parcel out more than $700,000, most of it for chemistry students and research. Union Carbide has gone even further. It is planning a $500,000 program which will eventually provide 400 scholarships a year for more than 30 colleges to administer without strings of any kind.

But even this help is not nearly enough. The U. S. private educational plant is in financial trouble. An estimated 50% of the private colleges operate in the red. At present, a large amount of corporate help covers just tuition, about half the cost of putting a student through school. Educators are also concerned about the sporadic nature of donations—a flood in high-profit years, a trickle in bad. Furthermore, too many contributions are donated for specific scientific projects which tend to unbalance the college as a whole by building up one department at the expense of the others. Universities need unrestricted funds.

Businessmen themselves are not happy with the results of heavy specialization. They have found that engineering graduates are often so unschooled in the humanities that they talk and write badly, have not the wide background needed to become executives. Says A. A. Stambaugh, board chairman of Standard Oil of Ohio: "Real leadership is compounded of the broadening cultural influences of liberal arts colleges. Industries have lots of men worthy $10,000 a year, but can't find many worth $100,000."

But while businessmen recognize the dangers of overspecialization, they have been reluctant to commit their firms to large-scale support of the liberal arts, partly because they have feared stockholders' suits over college contributions that did not have crystal-clear benefits to the company. This worry was lessened only 2½ months ago when the New Jersey Superior and Supreme Courts both rejected, and the U. S. Supreme Court refused to review, a stockholder's suit against the A. P. Smith Manufacturing Co. The stockholder claimed that a $1,500 gift to Princeton University for general education purposes was illegal because there was no direct benefit to the corporation. Ruled the court: "What promotes the general good inescapably advances the corporate weal."

U. S. business is taking the lesson to heart. Corporate gifts are not regarded merely as a means of spending cheap tax dollars, but as a blue-chip investment that will eventually pay heavy dividends. Some 1,500 companies have learned that the best way to give is through corporate foundations, such as U. S. Steel set up only three weeks ago. By investing heavily in periods of high earnings, a backlog can be accumulated to insure a steady stream of funds, thus enable educators to plan years ahead. But corporations still contribute far less than they are entitled to by law as a tax deduction (5% of their net income). In urging them to give more, Irving Olds, former board chairman of U. S. Steel said: "Every American business has a direct obligation to support free, independent, privately endowed colleges in this country to the limit of its financial ability and legal authority. And unless it recognizes and meets this obligation, I do not believe that 'It is properly protecting the long-range interests of its stockholders, its employees, and its customers.'"

Dr. Thoburn Leaves To Fill Post In India

Dr. Isabella Thoburn, psychology and education professor here at Wesleyan for thirteen years, has been granted a two-year leave of absence from the College and will leave at the end of May for India as the Executive Secretary of the United States Educational Foundation there.

The United States Educational Foundation in India handles the Fulbright awards, government grants to lecturers and research scholars. The Indian officials of the Foundation asked Dr. Thoburn to apply for this position and she will be employed by them.

Dr. Thoburn is quite familiar with India since she taught at the Isabella Thoburn College from 1927 to 1940 and was also a member of the academic council of Lucknow University with which Isabella Thoburn College is affiliated.

Receiving her A.B. degree from Allegheny College, her M.A. from Columbia University and her Ph.D. from Western Reserve University, Dr. Thoburn came to Wesleyan in 1941.

She plans to leave Macon near the end of May and will spend a week in Washington, three days in New York and two in London, England, being briefed for her work, before flying to New Delhi, India. Dr. Thoburn states she is looking forward to seeing the changes that have taken place in India since her last visit and to renewing old acquaintances there.

Her address will be U. S. Educational Foundation, 17 Curzon Road, New Delhi, India.

The Education Of Women And The 'Corporate Weal'

"What promotes the general good inescapably advances the corporate weal." This court ruling had reference to a gift for Princeton University, but it is equally applicable to gifts to the liberal arts colleges for women.

In connection with the foregoing article from Time, we refer our readers to one in the Saturday Review of November 21, 1953, written by President Carter Davidson of Union College. In his article entitled "The Men Who Rise," the last two paragraphs pertain to the stake that business corporations have in the liberal arts education of women.

Addressing himself to corporation executives, President Davidson points out that there are "hundreds of thousands" of college women in corporation posts, that the continued success of a corporation may depend upon "the educated perception of values" on the part of its women customers who are likely to constitute the majority of the customers of its product, that "Women hold or inherit half of the property and wealth of America," that they are important to corporations as stockholders, who, if well educated, may be "a wonderful asset for enlightened management," and "that wives exercise enormous influence over their husbands, whether those husbands are corporation executives or engineers or research scientists or stockholders or merely buyers and sellers of your product—and wives who have been well educated in a liberal arts college should be able to contribute in no small measure to the corporation's success."

Wesleyan Host To Teacher Study

"Cooperative Procedures in Teacher Education" was the theme of the Macon Area Teacher Education Conference held on the Wesleyan campus February 24 and 25.

The joint conference sponsored by Mercer and Wesleyan got under way after dinner in the Anderson Dining Room February 24.

A panel composed of eight members discussed the topic, "An Inventory of Our Practices in Working Together in Teacher Education." Dr. Hayden Bryant of Mercer served as moderator for the panel, and included on it were Dr. Mark Smith, Bibb County School Superintendent, George B. Connell, president of Mercer, and Dean S. L. Akers of Wesleyan.

On the 25th, the keynote address was given by Lynn Shufelt, Consultant in Human Growth and Development for the Atlanta Area Teacher Education Service. This was followed during the morning and afternoon sessions by small discussion groups.

Wesleyan Alumnae Luncheon Held During GEA Convention

A large group of Wesleyan alumnae enjoyed the fellowship and the program at the luncheon held in Atlanta at the Capitol City Club, March 19, during G.E.A. Convention.

Kay (Bailey) Burts, '31, member of the Board of Managers of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, was chairman of arrangements and presided.

Dr. B. Joseph Martin, president of Wesleyan College, was guest speaker. His subject was "Forces Contending for America." He was introduced by Dessa (Hays) Asher, '04, Wesleyan Alumnae Trustee.

The national officers present were Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, '26, president; Jacqueline (Howard) Edwards, '38, first vice president; Malene (Lee) Morgan, '32, second vice president; and Irene (Sewell) Hobby, '22, secretary. Music was furnished by Jean (Mouchet) Brannon, '52.

The alumnae group felt honored to have Sarah (Culpepper) Cutts of Greenville, '25, wife of the outgoing president of G.E.A., and Margaret (Bennett) Jones, '24, assistant editor of the G.E.A. Journal, attend the Wesleyan luncheon.

Wesleyan Trustee Gets New Post

The Rev. George E. Clary, Sr., who is a Wesleyan College trustee from the South Georgia Conference, was elected an executive secretary of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council of the Methodist Church, effective April 1.

He will share administrative responsibilities with the Rev. James W. Sells in the council's work covering nine states.

Mark Ethridge Named To Board Of Ford Foundation

Mark Ethridge, publisher of The Louisville Times and The Courier-Journal, former managing editor of The Macon Telegraph, and husband of Willie (Snow) Ethridge, '20, has been elected to the board of trustees of the Ford Foundation.

He has served in a number of government posts, both in the United States and abroad, and has been awarded a doctor of laws degree and made an honorary member of Phi Beta Kappa, Harvard University.

Willie Snow did much of her writing about foreign countries while traveling with her husband on his assignments abroad.

Gifts Of The Campbell Art Collection

The latest painting given to Wesleyan College is a gouache, meaning a painting done with water color to which white has been added to give the effect of oil painting. The landscape, done on a heavy cardboard, is a good example of a western scene. It was sent from the National Academy of Design in New York City by Wm. T. Richards, artist.

The most recent gift is a crayon drawing by Edwin Howland Blashfield of a design he never used in a painting. This drawing he gave to Helena Eastman (Ogden) Campbell at the time he gave another to Wesleyan. Now this outstanding alumna has given her drawing to Wesleyan as a companion piece to the first one given by the artist. She writes, "It is not only an original but an unknown work. I am glad to have it join the 'Collection'."

CLUBS

WASHINGTON, D. C., CLUB

Dr Martin Entertained

On January 30 Dr. B. Joseph Martin was guest of the Washington Club and spoke at the luncheon meeting held at the Kennedy-Warren Apartment Hotel.

To quote one of the Club officers, "The Washington Wesleyannes capitulated promptly to Dr. Martin's charm and business acumen." Over forty alumnae heard their president, who had been recently inaugurated, speak about Wesleyan College today and tomorrow. Six high school seniors were guests of the Club also.

April Luncheon

Mr. Alfred leSesne Jenkins, officer in charge of Chinese Political affairs of the State Department, will speak to the Washington Club on April 3 at the Fairfax Hotel, his subject being "China and the United States or Our Stake in the Far East."

Mr. Jenkins, son of a former president of Wesleyan, lived at the college from 1912 to 1916. He was a former Vice-Consul at Hong Kong, Tientsin, and Pieiping, and a Consul and Second Secretary of Embassy at Taepi (Formosa). During World War II he was connected with Far Eastern Affairs at the Pentagon after having served as instructor at the Air Force Trainer Link at Chanute Field, Ill., and at Randolph Field in San Antonio, Texas.

ATLANTA CLUB

The Atlanta Alumnae Club held their mid-winter luncheon meeting on Saturday, February 27, at the Atlanta Woman's Club, with Mary (Rudisill) Trippe, president, presiding.

Dr. Gulnar Bosch, head of the Arts Department in the School of Fine Arts at Wesleyan, was the guest speaker. Sixty alumnae were present for the meeting.

Sue (Lott) Clark, projects chairman, reported they had sold 1500 date calendars, and had cleared over $500.00.

ATLANTA GROUP VII

Wesleyan Alumnae Group VII met April 7 for dinner in the Circus Room at Mammy's Shanty. The guest speaker was Miss Ruth Kent, an instructor with a finishing school, who talked on grooming. The meeting was presided over by Marjorie Perkins, '51, president.

MACON CLUB

In March the first four groups of the recently re-organized five groups in the Macon Club met separately and enjoyed hearing Dr. Martin report on the successful year almost completed of the combined schools on the Rivoli campus.

Group I (Before 1910) were guests of

COLUMBUS CLUB

Dr. Martin, Margaret (Cantrell) Isaacs, new president, and Rose (King) Boone, outgoing president.

The Columbus Alumnae Club held their annual luncheon meeting for high school seniors on Saturday, February 6, at the Columbus Country Club, at which Rose (King) Boone, '52, president, presided.

Dr. B. Joseph Martin, president of Wesleyan College, was speaker, and other special guests included Mrs. Martin, wife of the president and honorary member of the Alumnae Association, Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, president of the Alumnae Association, and Malene (Lee) Morgan, alumnae secretary.

On the program were two students from Wesleyan; Pat Waters of Fitzgerald who sang and Phyllis Clough of Douglas who accompanied her.

Seven high school seniors were guests of the Club for lunch, and the following alumnae also attended: Rose (King) Boone, Frances (Holland) Pringle, Gabriella (Pierce) Edmond, Ethel (Heard) deLoffre, Hattie Grace (Subers) Rahn, Eva (King) Stephens, Annie Evans (Daniel) Brown, Frances (Callahan) Belk, Virginia "Scotty" (Scott) Estes, Martha Woodie (Schley) Campbell, Brownie (Buck) Elliott, Mae (Eason) Hall, Emily (Britton) Parker, Marjorie (Potts) Durden, Margaret (Cantrell) Isaacs, and Lucia Hutchinson.

The following new slate of officers to take over immediately after the luncheon meeting were introduced: Margaret (Cantrell) Isaacs, '33, president; "Scotty" (Scott) Estes, '37, vice president and publicity director; Wilda (Maddox) Wilson, '40, secretary; and Louise (Holoway) Waldron, '50.

HELP US MAKE THE 'OLD SCHOOL'S HAT' OVERFLOW LIKE THIS!

It is far from overflowing from the 1953-54 Loyalty Fund gifts. Check your records to see if your gift has been mailed. Those hundreds of alumnae who have not been sending in anything, at least mail the Office $1.00 to cover the Wesleyan Alumnae. Anything over that will go into the alumnae scholarship fund.

Did you realize Wesleyan is one of the few colleges to mail the alumnae magazine to every alumna? Most colleges send the magazine only to those who pay "dues" or contribute in some way to the Alumnae Association. Look up that return envelope we sent you and enclose your check today!

Help your class have the largest percentage of contributors.

The March magazine listed the contributors from September 1, 1953, to February 1, 1954. The contributors since then through March 8 are listed below:

1886

Both of Annie Belle (Cox) Lanier's sons live in Augusta. She makes her home with the married son, an attorney, and enjoys her grandchildren. Her address is 29-21 Milledgeville Road.

Blanche (Hall) Neel has a new great-granddaughter, Patricia Ann, born in Bangor, Me., in February.

1888

Congratulations are in order for Nan (Carmichael) Beeland and her husband who celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary on March 19.

1889

Anita (McClendon) Miller has had her first 1954 publication—a description in verse of a grapefruit orchard in December—in The American Bard.

1890

Lizzie (Dickson) Bennett writes she will be unable to attend her reunion since she has been sick since last fall and is trying to regain her strength.

1894

Nannette (Carter) Smith's son, Carter, an Atlanta physician and current president of the Emory Alumni Association, was initiated in the fall to membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity.

Sallie (Shinholser) Miller, now living in Sarasota, Fla., writes that she and her husband celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary early this year.

Dr. John Corry, husband of Ailene (Pitts) Corry, is serving as chairman of the Red Cross fund campaign in Barnesville, Ga., for the 35th consecutive year. Ailene (Corry) Arensbach, '24, is a daughter.

1898

Nina (Lively) Hendricks' husband, Dr. Walter Hendricks, is to be the first president of the first known Primitive Baptist college in the world.

The Alumnae Office has just learned that Mabel Blackwell passed away last July. Sympathy is extended to her sister, Lily (Blackwell) Smith, '04.

Emmie Lela (Gramling) Perkins writes proudly of her two new grandsons, Neil Gramling Perkins, Jr., born January 23, and Patrick Kennedy Perkins, born October 1, 1953. Neil's father is resident physician in Memorial Center Hospital, New York City; Patrick's father is a Major in the U.S.M.C.R.

Nellie (Knight) Cleghorn writes from Albuquerque, N. M., that she was an honored guest at the Phi Mu luncheon held in February celebrating the founding of the sorority 102 years ago. She says in response to her introduction she did not hesitate to remind the New Mexico alumnae that Wesleyan is the oldest chartered college in the world for women, and "how proud I am of the fact I am an antique!"

Lucia (Johnson) Edmondson of Anniston, Ala., writes that her health is not good and she will be unable to come to her class reunion.

1906

Octavia (Burden) Stewart, first president of the Vineville Garden Club in Macon, was hostess for its twenty-fifth birthday anniversary meeting.

Sympathy is extended to Pearl (Stewart) Amerson in the death of her mother in March.

Sara (Branham) Matthews writes of her wonderful trip this past fall to Rome, Italy, to attend the Sixth International Congress of Micro-biology. She flew both ways. At the end of the Congress, she boarded a cargo ship in Naples and took a cruise of the Mediterranean countries, especially those of the Middle East and the Holy Land.

Willie (Erminger) Mallary and Nannaline (King) Byrd took a trip together this past fall and visited Sara (Branham) Mathews in her lovely new home at Bethesda, Md.

Reese Edward Griffin, a son of Bessie (Copeland) Griffin is a record breaker of sorts. He has already received his A.B. from Emory, B.D. from the School of Theology, and A.M. from the Graduate School, and is now taking his fourth quarter of work toward the Ph.D. in the Graduate Institute of the Liberal Arts. He is well on his way of being the first Emory alumnus with four degrees from Emory.

1902

Florence (Howard) Domingos spent several weeks in the hospital in February but is doing fine now.

Janet (Mallary) Torrey's new address is: Mrs. Reuben A. Torrey, Jr., Presbyterian Mission, APO 94, c/o P.M., San Francisco, Calif.

Irma Lou (Neal) Little of Marietta writes she will be unable to come back for her class reunion. She has already planned a trip with friends for a visit to Texas and a three week tour of Mexico. She says she regrets she will not have that fellowship with her classmates.

Flora (Carter) Turner, in writing of her visit with her daughter, Margaret (Turner) Beaty, '38, says that Margaret's lovely little daughter, Diane, was born December 9. She has a seven year old half brother, Edwin, who is delighted with his new sister. Margaret also has an adopted daughter, Catherine, born June 26, 1953.

Annie (Turner) Ironside sat on the platform and took part in the procession when the Georgia Society, DAR, met for its annual state conference at the Atlanta Biltmore in March. Her grandson, Harrison Hightower, was the only boy who placed in the top five seniors at R. E. Lee Institute at Thomaston, Ga.

Jewel (Favor) Glass was among the Georgia Daughters to be seated on the platform and to take part in the procession when the 56th annual state conference of the Georgia Society, DAR, convened in Atlanta in March.

1914

The Atlanta Writers Club held its February meeting, a prose Workshop, at the home of Pansy (Aiken) Slappey. Pansy's husband is the editor of the Reporter, the official organ of the G.E.A.

Sympathy is extended to Neila (Damour) Watt in the death of her mother, Laura (Jones) Damour, '82, in April.

Floye (Powell) Dumas, now dean of girls at Majorie Webster Junior College in Washington, D. C., accompanied the president of the school, Miss Marjorie Webster, to Atlanta in March. They were honored at a luncheon at the Athletic Club while there.

Clara (Warfield) Stamps of Jacksonville, Fla., enjoyed a Caribbean Cruise in March.

Annie Lou (Stowe) Fleming enjoyed a visit with two of her classmates in Atlanta recently, Lucie (Mobley) Moore and Mozelle Tumlin. Annie Lou writes, "Lucie and I are rapidly accumulating grandchildren but keep well and spry on the job (teaching), and Mozelle is happy at her job at Emory too."

1916

Verna (French) Shaffer is the regent of the Ft. Early chapter, DAR, in Cordele. She will conduct the combined choirs of that city in an Easter Cantata to be given at the First Baptist Church on Palm Sunday.

Rosa (Wooten) Henderson writes that at last she has had a song accepted by a publisher. It is entitled "The Lord's Day" and published by R. D. Row Music Company of Boston, Mass. She states it is being currently featured by Columbia Theological Seminary Choir and the Woman's Chorus in Munich, Germany. My ambition, she says, is that it will be sung at Wesleyan.

Sympathy is extended to Edith (Culpepper) Turpin in the death of her mother in Senoia in February.

Since she loved camellias and was an ardent supporter of the camellia show, Helen (Lewis) McKenzie's husband and son, Emmett, Jr., could not have selected a more beautiful or fitting memorial for her. They have just given an award for the best Ville de Nantes grown outdoors. The trophy was added to those for the Middle Georgia Show held in February.

Marian L. (Cook) Murphy has a daughter graduating from high school this year.

Lottie (Felder) Bowen's husband served as vice-chairman of the Camellia Show in Macon in February. He majored in horticulture in college, and Lottie says that camellias are truly his hobby. They have hundreds of fine plants at their home on Ingleside Avenue. Mr. Bowen walked off with top honors at the Perry (Ga.) Camellia Show this spring, his Frances McLanahan bloom being judged the most outstanding flower in the show.

Marion (Legg) Craig's new address is 404 Kimball House, 33 Pryor St., S.W., Atlanta 3, Ga.

In ordering some Wesleyan Wedgwood with the Towers of Old Wesleyan scene, Gertrude (Smith) Buckland writes "Many an hour I spent up there practicing speech for Miss Wallace! The cup will give added spice to my tea." Her address is 309 Lexington Ave., Syracuse 10, N. Y.

Sympathy is extended to Sarah (Forbes) Morgan in the death of her husband in February. Sarah has five sons and a daughter.

A recent issue of Town and Country carried a picture of Alexander King McLanahan, son of Frances (Gurr) McLanahan, with his bride emerging from the church in Texas where they were married.

Winifred (Rawlings) Gilmore of Sandersville visited her son, Thomas Jr., at his apartment near Emory where he is a senior in the Emory School of Medicine.

1922

Isabel (Hackett) Kinnett is now serving as parliamentarian of the Bibb Education Association.

Ruth (Holt) Sheehan was in the Piedmont Hospital in Atlanta during January for another skin grafting operation on her hand. We are wishing for Ruth a complete and speedy recovery.

1923

Becky (Oliphant) Anthony's husband, Mack, who is a popular member of the South Georgia Conference, was a delegate from that Conference to the Urban Life Convocation held at Columbus, Ohio.

1924

Anita (Davis) Tuten's son, James G., Jr., was married to Joyce Harkins of Knoxville, Tenn., in Feb.

As president of the Georgia Society, DAR, Anne (Douglas) Wallace was one of the leading figures at the 56th annual state conference held in Atlanta in March.

Mary Miller of Brunswick is state program chairman of the American Association of University Women.

Margaret (Bennett) Jones of Atlanta is state secretary of A.A.U.W. Margaret attended the Wesleyan alumnae luncheon held at the Capitol City Club during G.E.A. Convention in Atlanta. She is assistant editor of the Georgia Education Journal.

Margaret (Vincent) Smith and her husband, Vice Admiral Allen E. Smith, (ret.), are taking a trip around the world by plane. When they reach Europe, they expect to buy a car and travel extensively over Europe, flying home from London.

Margaret (Burghard) Johnson, formerly of Macon and now principal of the College Street Elementary School in Cedar-town, visited in Macon in February. Margaret recently spent a year in Macon doing graduate work at Mercer and last summer did further graduate work in the field of childhood psychology at the University of Georgia.

Sympathy is extended to Frances (Calahan) Belk in the untimely death of her husband in March.

Sarah (Culpepper) Cutts' husband, Harvey, retiring president of G.E.A., was presented with a beautiful wrist watch by his school (Greenville, Ga.) staff, and by the members of the Meriwether County Board of Education. Sarah attended the Wesleyan alumnae luncheon held at the Capitol City Club during G.E.A. Convention in Atlanta.

Sympathy is extended to Emma (McElrath) Fulmer in the death of her brother, Robert J. McElrath, in March.

Eunice Thomson has been "getting around" in New York and has seen many Wesleyannes there this past winter. At a recent dinner with Helen Perdue, '26, Dorothy (McKay) Bollendonk, '28, was also a guest. Dorothy's son is at the University of Colorado. Her daughter, LeConte, is in high school. Eunice had lunch with Jamie (Tyson) Dodd, '35, one day. Jamie has a twelve year old son, Grover. When Margaret Chapman celebrated her birthday in January, Eunice was one of the 25 guests. "Had fun," she writes.

Sympathy is extended to Elizabeth (Banks) Jarrell in the loss of her mother in April. Betty Banks Jarrell, '53, is a granddaughter, and Annie Jean (Culbreath) Cotton, '06, is a sister-in-law.

Frances (Cater) Snow is the new secretary of United Church Women of Macon.

Sara (Jenkins) Cunningham still has an "itching foot." She writes that they are just home from North Carolina where they spent two months.

Sympathy is extended to Maxine (Baldwin) Schaufele in the death of her father in February.

One of Winston (Hall) Sibley's Wesleyan contemporaries writes, "I heard Winston speak most interestingly at the General Meeting of Westminster Church (Greenville, S. C.) on the churches of Europe — her impressions from a recent visit."

Sympathy is extended to Virginia McJenkin in the sudden death of her father in February.

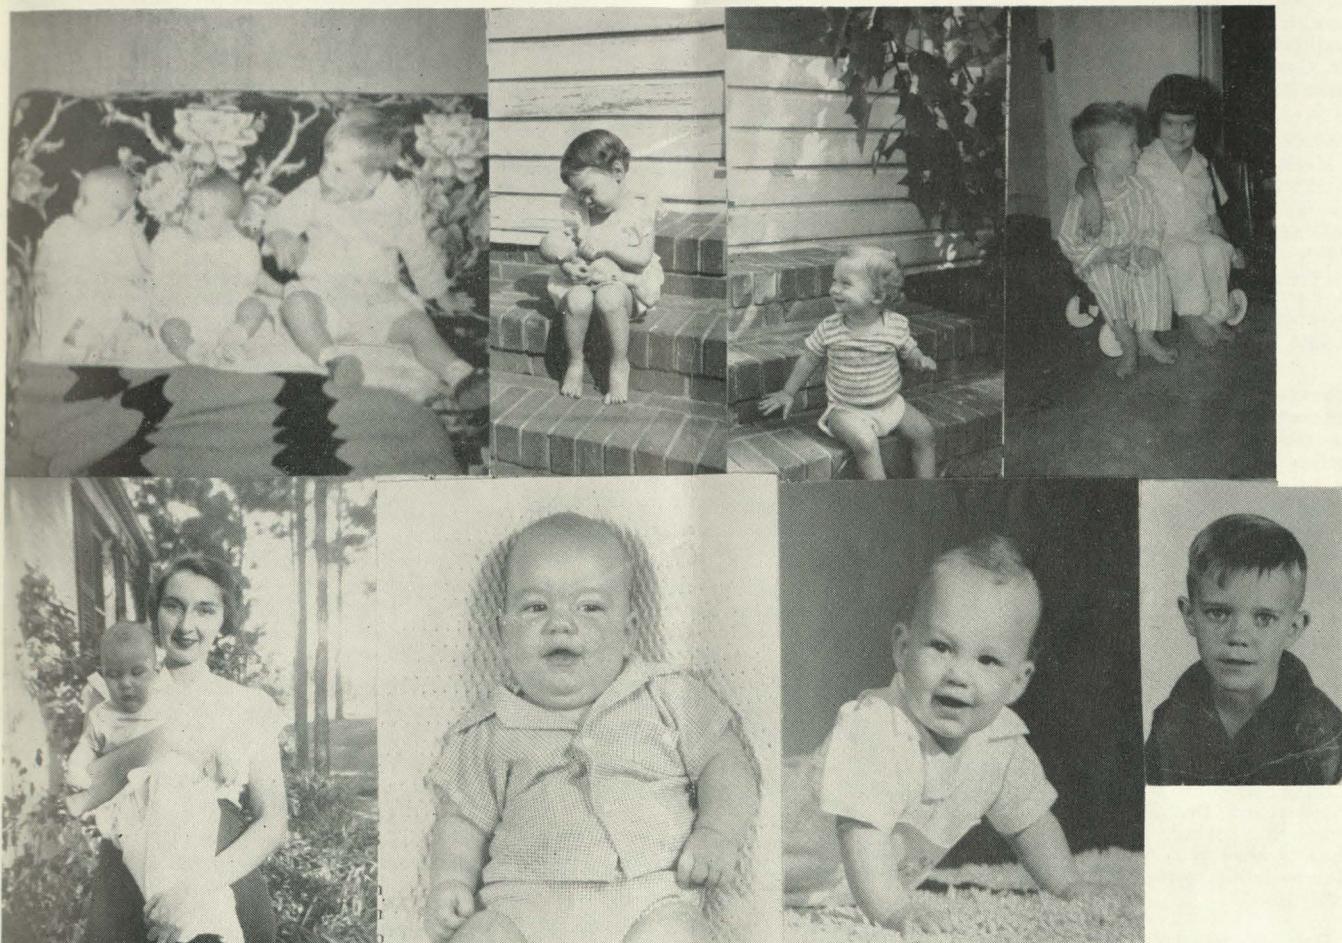

Sympathy is extended to Virginia (Stubbs) Leps, and to her sister, Louise (Stubbs) Lowrey, '25, in the loss of their mother in January.

Sympathy is extended to Suzanne (Wilhelm) Ferguson in the death of her mother in March.

Virginia (Banks) St. John is author of the meditation being used on Wednesday, March 3, by the estimated seven million people who read The Upper Room, a devotional guide under the editorship of Dr. J.
